Subject: Re: Brookhaven IDA, Northville Industries and 3Village Schools

Dr. Odekon,

Thank you for your email about the FourGen-S LLC application to the Brookhaven Industrial Agency (IDA) for their site in Setauket. It is my understanding that the project will be located on a 3,000 square foot footprint on a ~54 acre parcel of L-1 property at 19 N. Belle Mead Road in East Setauket. The project is a 1.38 megawatt fuel cell electric power generator and will be fueled by natural gas. The applicant has requested two IDA benefits: a property tax PILOT and a sales tax exemption.

The host parcel currently pays $206,155 in property taxes per year. The 3,000' project footprint's portion of the current tax has been calculated at approximately $600 per year. Starting in year one, the proposed PILOT would be $43,579 per year for that footprint, bringing the total parcel tax payment to ~$250,000. In other words, there would be an immediate improvement to the local tax base starting in year one. Over the life of the proposed agreement, this amount would increase to $64,756 per year.

With respect to the sales tax exemption, the applicant is requesting relief from sales tax on the purchase of their equipment, possibly up to $517,500. Approximately $240,100 of this amount relates to NYS taxes which are already in place and apply to these types of purchases. The other $277,500 is Suffolk County sales tax, most of which is covered by these exemptions as well. In any case, this does not directly impact the Town or the local school district.

These statements of fact notwithstanding, as a general principle I have found that many IDA projects do not seem to have a clear justification for the use of public money to support private enterprises. In the case of this project, for example, it would be much easier to make the case for a clear public good if the fuel cells were running on "green hydrogen," but they are, as you correctly pointed out, fueled by natural gas. I suppose an argument could be made that the applicant is helping to build power generation infrastructure that could one day run on hydrogen, but I agree with you— they are not there today.

I also appreciate the concerns you raised about the potential impact on school district financing and the local tax base, and as a (former) long-time school board member, I happen to have some understanding of and sensitivity to these issues. I especially appreciate and share your concern for working families and small businesses. You will be happy to learn that there will be an opportunity for approximately 2,500 local families and small businesses to sign up for discounted power as a result of this project. According to PSEGLI, the average monthly electric bill is $162 per month, or $1,944 per year. With 2,5000 local customers receiving a 10% discount on their bill, this would generate savings of around $486,000 per year starting in year one: a community benefit that would go right into the pockets of our residents.

Thank you again for your letter, and I hope that this answers some of your questions and concerns about the FourGen-S application. I would encourage you to contact the IDA directly to have your concerns included in the public record. I intend to share this response to them as well, along with a reiteration of my wish for IDA benefits, when appropriately granted, to help move us towards a greener and more equitable future.

Just to clarify - there are two fuel cells going to the IDA for sales/property tax exemption by same oil company on the same day - one in Setauket/3V, one in Sachem - this was introduced to IDA in October 2021, minutes are here, starts on p23 of PDF: <https://brookhavenida.org/files/10-20-21%20IDA%20Mins%20Updated.pdf>

Northville refers to the project as renewable but does not cite the source of renewable energy. They state that Fuel Cells "can" use renewable resources but they do not state that they will.

In South Country District the Brookhaven IDA granted fuel cell developer a 20 year tax exemption and the fuel cell is not using renewable energy but just connected to natural gas. The above minutes note that the "board has considered and consummated a couple of projects of this similar nature" in the past. In South Country School District, January 2021 IDA documents cited "advancement of renewable energy production" as a rationale, yet our South Country Fuel Cell is connected to non-renewable fracked fossil fuels via National Grid. The IDA never returned our questions surrounding this discrepancy.

Oil companies can afford to pay school taxes on their power plants, especially when working families and small businesses are struggling to pay their property taxes.

Dear Councilman Kornreich, Shoshana, Tali, Mr Hoffman and George,

Why would Brookhaven elected officials and residents of 3V allow Brookhaven IDA to grant Northville industries - an affiliated company of a petroleum storage, distribution and wholesale company, a 25 year tax exemption for a fossil fuel generated fuel cell power plant as they are proposing to do on July 19th? <https://brookhavenida.org/blog/7-9-22-notice-of-public-hearing-fourgen-s-llc>

Similar fuel cell projects (like East Hempstead project shot down this year <https://actionnetwork.org/letters/no-neighborhood-fossil-gas-plants-in-hempstead-town>) offered to pay full taxes, proving these tax incentives do not actually incentivize development.

Why should Three Village residents shoulder this $1.5M sales and property tax break? Roughly 3/4 of property taxes go to respective school districts on Long Island. The IDA application refers to this as "clean energy" but these are usually natural gas power plants which are not renewable, not zero emissions and CLCPA has 2040 100% zero emissions mandate. The power plant will employ zero people.

The CBA document states that the project meets the IDA's Uniform Project Evaluation Criteria Policy due to "renewable energy generation" but it appears like this is a fossil fuel fired fuel cell - there is nothing in the application saying this fuel cell is powered by renewable energy.

Maybe I am missing something, but the Town of Brookhaven already did this to us in the South Country School District by approving a 20 year tax break to a natural gas fired fuel cell. Brookhaven and 3V taxpayers deserve better.

Best,

Just to clarify - there are two fuel cells going to the IDA for sales/property tax exemption by same oil company on the same day - one in Setauket/3V, one in Sachem - this was introduced to IDA in October 2021, minutes are here, starts on p23 of PDF: <https://brookhavenida.org/files/10-20-21%20IDA%20Mins%20Updated.pdf>

Northville refers to the project as renewable but does not cite the source of renewable energy. They state that Fuel Cells "can" use renewable resources but they do not state that they will.

In South Country District the Brookhaven IDA granted fuel cell developer a 20 year tax exemption and the fuel cell is not using renewable energy but just connected to natural gas. The above minutes note that the " board has considered and consummated a couple of projects of this similar nature" in the past. In South Country School District, January 2021 IDA documents cited "advancement of renewable energy production" as a rationale, yet our South Country Fuel Cell is connected to non-renewable fracked fossil fuels via National Grid. The IDA never returned our questions surrounding this discrepancy.

Oil companies can afford to pay school taxes on their power plants, especially when working families and small businesses are struggling to pay their property taxes.

Dear Councilman Kornreich, Shoshana, Tali, Mr Hoffman and George,

Why would Brookhaven elected officials and residents of 3V allow Brookhaven IDA to grant Northville industries - an affiliated company of a petroleum storage, distribution and wholesale company, a 25 year tax exemption for a fossil fuel generated fuel cell power plant as they are proposing to do on July 19th? <https://brookhavenida.org/blog/7-9-22-notice-of-public-hearing-fourgen-s-llc>

Similar fuel cell projects (like East Hempstead project shot down this year <https://actionnetwork.org/letters/no-neighborhood-fossil-gas-plants-in-hempstead-town>) offered to pay full taxes, proving these tax incentives do not actually incentivize development.

Why should Three Village residents shoulder this $1.5M sales and property tax break? Roughly 3/4 of property taxes go to respective school districts on Long Island. The IDA application refers to this as "clean energy" but these are usually natural gas power plants which are not renewable, not zero emissions and CLCPA has 2040 100% zero emissions mandate. The power plant will employ zero people.

The CBA document states that the project meets the IDA's IDA's Uniform Project Evaluation Criteria Policy due to "renewable energy generation" but it appears like this is a fossil fuel fired fuel cell - there is nothing in the application saying this fuel cell is powered by renewable energy.

Maybe I am missing something, but the Town of Brookhaven already did this to us in the South Country School District by approving a 20 year tax break to a natural gas fired fuel cell. Brookhaven and 3V taxpayers deserve better.
