This is a follow up of our conversation on Dec 4, 2023. I appreciate you taking your time out of your busy schedule to answer some of my questions. Although some of our concerns might be out of the scope of this agency it's worth bringing this to your attention..

This letter is in regards to the construction of 110MW Lithium battery storage facility in Holtsville, Town of Brookhaven, Suffolk County NY. There are many concerns of constructing such a large magnitude facility at said location operating remotely..It is my understanding that the NYS Public Service Commission approved a site plan along with the Town of Brookhaven for such a facility based on a filed petition on March 12, 2023 by Holtsville Energy Storage LLC. These 3 parcels are currently owned by Lawlor Venture LLC, and Lucretis Fierro with the intended sites to be purchased by privately owned company known as Savion

I am opposed to such a facility with this magnitude for the following reasons. This site could be a prime target for a soft cell terrorist attack. There is also nothing in place to prevent a flyover of drone(s) in this restricted area. If one attack happens, our Fire, Police, and Medical Services are not equipped to handle such a catastrophic event. This also puts our Sachem school students at risk of exposure to toxic gasses known as Phosphoryl Fluoride (BOF3) and Hydrogen Fluoride (HF) There are 4 Schools estimated to be within a mile radius or less of this proposed approved site. In addition there is the Island 16 movie theater, Residence Inn facility, Chilis, Wendys, Cajun Seafood, On the Border, Morris Ave Industrial Park,, Town of Brookhaven Morris Ave Park, Top Golf, Gulf Gas Station along with local residents all in very close proximity. This site also brings concerns as it is very close to the Long Island Expressway, Nichols Road, and the Long Island Railroad. thus making it almost impossible to do a safe evacuation in an emergency ultimately preventing reasonable access to Stony Brook Hospital, St Charles Hospital and Mather Hospital.. This lithium battery storage facility is also in the direct flight pattern from planes leaving and returning to MacArthur Airport. This area has already been overdeveloped with the Northville Terminal, NYS Robert Flynn Power Plant along with National Grid. In the immediate vicinity is a cell tower. This cell tower / antenna is a vital infrastructure to many law enforcement agencies and fire departments who rely on this for clear communications

A fire or explosion would have a detrimental effect at this lithium battery storage facility and would compromise our vital infrastructure putting our children, residents, fire fighters, and police in harm's way. There is no plan in place to provide a safe evacuation of school children in the area if a catastrophic event took place at this facility. A school lock down would be flawed and toxins could enter the school building through dampers. Keeping in mind the local fire departments are all volunteers who do a great job, but are not professional firefighters thus placing them at risks. The ability to have the manpower of these Volunteer Firefighters available is often a great challenge.

With the Savion Bess Lithium Storage Facility being given the needed approval to operate at the Morris Avenue location in Holtsville against the safety concerns of illness, injury, and or loss of life to the local residents could result in serious legal ramifications and at the same time drastically reduce the value of property. If the Suffolk County Government can get hacked, then this remote storage facility can get hacked too, putting all of us at risk. I understand that there is a small economic benefit of creating temporary jobs and some union workers have endorsed this project regardless of that it should never overstate our rights and safety concerns. The risk is greater than the benefits. We certainly don't want to see that BESS explosion and fire what happened in Warwick NY happen here on Long Island.

It should also be known that Steven Losquardo is an attorney representing the Savion Energy Storage Company, his brother is the Town of Brookhaven Highway Superintendent Dan Losquadro. I believe this could be a major conflict of interest, and could have easily persuaded and influenced other elected Town of Brookhaven members to seek a fast track of approval for this site plan along with its recommendations to the PSC, thus tipping the scale for approval.

This L1 zoning on this site is listed as light industry, however we feel that this proposed BESS site is not compatible with current land usage in this vicinity, as it is overpopulated. Cooling fans of a BESS will generate noise at about 37 - 60 decibels. This would clearly be a non compliance noise issue to Chapter 50 of Brookhaven Town Code and NYS noise laws operating between the hours after 10pm and before 7am.

The Holtsville Energy Storage LLC misrepresented and falsely argued the point that this BESS Lithium Storage Facility was a necessity and is in the best interest of this community when seeking a variance and special permit from the Brookhaven Planning Board. Listing the surrounding area as remote with light traffic, this is totally not true. An example of this deliberate misinformation was expressed in the Savion online meeting on Nov 20, 2023 Savion representatives emphasize extreme safety measures were in place. Savion wants people to believe that a fire hydrant in the area provides adequate safety when in reality it's irrelevant, because large lithium battery fires are not professionally extinguished with water making a fire hydrant in the area moot. Clearly a misrepresentation of facts and safety.

It is my assertion the Town of Brookhaven and the Public Service Commission acted on this inaccurate flawed information and made an error of judgment in approval of this site. Not taking in full consideration of the impact this lithium battery storage facility will have on our area..This misleading information on safety is disturbing. Inadequate notification from the town of Brookhaven generated a small number of people opposed to this BESS; this amount It has been recorded at 120 people by the Public Service Commission in your briefing. The real fact is there are now over 2,500 signatures on record in petitions opposing this Lithium Battery Storage Facility in Holtville on Morris Ave. .

From my personal experience as a retired police lieutenant, certified police instructor, former member of a local volunteer fire department, Emergency Medical Technician, NIMS certified. along with many other training and experiences. I have petitioned the State of NY, Public Service Commission, Town of Brookhaven, County of Suffolk and all elected officials to say NO TO THIS SITE and removal of all permits, and approval in conjunction to operate and install this lithium battery storage facility DBA "Savion" at this locations until further studies from Governor Hochul's "Inter-Agency fire Safety Working Group" is executed in full force. In addition New York State Senator Alexis Weigl has also requested that this lithium Battery Storage Facility PSC approval be paused. In addition to Anthony Piccirillo, Suffolk County Legislator, and Doug Smith, NYS Assemblyman

I am petitioning the Brookhaven Industrial Development Agency to review the application of extension for Holtsville Energy Storage and Holtsville Solar LLC operating with Savion Energy. There are over 2,500 local residents and workers who oppose this facility. The need to re-evaluate the safety of this community and financial stability of this mega project moving forward.. Our concerns are recorded in the public record. This site has not been planned out well and could easily cause safety and financial hardship to local businesses and residents. A pause on this site is warranted and our complaints need to be heard before the sale of this land and groundbreaking takes place. Your help in this matter would be greatly appreciated in protecting our school children.and our local community. and enhancing the safety of all. Please Notify me of any public hearings related to the 3 parcels located on Morris Ave in Holtsville. Attachments enclosed.. Feel Free to contact me. Thank you for your time.

the Battery Energy Storage Facility Project

Residents of Holtsville, Holbrook and surrounding areas are deeply concerned and opposed to the proposed Holtsville Energy Storage Facility (Battery Energy Storage System) project on Morris Ave. This would be one of the largest facilities in the U.S. consisting of 110-megawatts, with 124 lithium-ion battery containers.

Finding better energy solutions is important, but not when it threatens the residents and ecosystem of the towns of Islip and Brookhaven

- This proposed facility is located within one mile of NINE (9) Sachem school buildings, and very close proximity to residential homes, local businesses, and youth sport facilities.
- The only current protocol in place in case of a fire at this facility is to lockdown the schools (without air conditioning) and trap students and teachers inside while the threat of gases, smoke, and chemicals are assessed.
- The Sachem CSD has not been contacted by either Holtsville Energy Storage, LLC or any local, State, and/or federal agency to discuss and plan for any possible emergency nor how to prepare for such an emergency that would impact students, staff members, and parents.
- No volunteer Fire Department in the local area is equipped, resourced, and/or trained to respond to a fire or any other emergency at a battery energy storage system site.
- Lithium-ion batteries cause aggressive, uncontrollable fires that are extremely difficult to put out and can cause an explosion.
- Fire Extinguishers do not work on lithium-ion battery fires.
- Water may not prevent a battery from burning and spreading.
- Battery cells are known to explode and quickly spread to another battery.
- Lithium-ion batteries are known to unexpectedly re-ignite minutes, hours and even days after all visible fire has been put out.
- Lithium-ion batteries can enter an uncontrollable, self-heating state. This can result in the release of gas, particulates, and possible explosion.

Densely populated neighborhoods are not the proper location for these types of facilities! It's too dangerous to residents and businesses!

Re: Case #23-E-0142, Matter #23-00545: Entitled "Petition of Holtsville Energy Storage, LLC, for a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity, Granting a Lightened Regulatory Regime, and Expedited Proceeding"

Dear Hon. Michelle L. Phillips:

As duly elected officials, who also serve as members of the Energy Committees within the New York State Assembly and Suffolk County Legislature respectively, we urgently write to you to express our grave concerns regarding the proposed siting of an up to 110-megawatt (MW)-capacity, stand-alone battery energy storage system (BESS) facility with accompanying substation in the unincorporated Hamlet of Holtsville, Town of Brookhaven, Suffolk County, Long Island. If approved, Holtsville Energy Storage, LLC ("Holtsville"), would be authorized to develop, own, and operate said facility, capable of providing the local grid with frequency regulation, voltage control, and emergency backup power. "When discharging stored energy, it is anticipated the project will be capable of powering approximately 18,000 homes for approximately 4 hours."

At a virtual public statement hearing held on June 29th, 2023, ten members of the public offered their input primarily raising concerns about the location of the facility, given the population density of the community, and posing questions regarding safety and security. Many commenters expressed support for battery storage facilities generally but were opposed to this specific project due to its location in our community. One commenter fully supported the project.

We understand that safeguarding the spirit of innovation is a prerequisite to maintaining an adaptable, resilient society. Furthermore, maintaining open competition is also prudent in keeping with the free-market system underpinning our great nation. However, we believe it is too soon to attempt to proliferate facilities such as battery energy storage systems (or BESSs), as is arguably being done blindly in the matter at hand, a mere stone's throw from the following, no less: a chemical and solvent distributor, various eateries, a church, a synagogue, a middle school, a movie theater, several hotels, a youth sports facility, and our Main Street business district. Worse yet, the facility would sit a block away from a cluster of homes, and, if one looks across the Long Island Expressway, more homes, a middle school, two elementary schools, a public library, another youth sports facility, and a gas station, to name a few.

Meanwhile, Holtsville asserts, in its Frequently Asked Questions document on BESSs via its website, "We chose the site on the southwest corner of Long Island Expressway and Morris Road to maximize benefits to the grid and ratepayers. It is directly adjacent to transmission lines, which means it will service energy users efficiently, and electricity will flow easily in and out of the grid when required. Additionally, the parcel location is within an area that is zoned for industrial facilities."

As of close of business on June 30th, 2023, fifty-six (56) public comments have been posted to the DPS Matter Master page¹ with all but one member of the public opposed to the project.

At least one commenter cites a nearby asphalt plant as already polluting the air, and that a BESS could further compound said air quality concerns. Notably, another individual writes: "I work in the battery business and I can assure you that should a battery storage plant this size catch on fire, the explosion could rock the buildings, crack foundations, break windows - within a 5 mile radius. If the local fire department is not equipped and thoroughly trained in these types of explosions, fires, thermal runaway - the disaster could be catastrophic."

Specifically, on approximately March 15th, 2023, Holtsville filed a petition with the Commission seeking an Order, respectively, (1) granting it a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity (CPCN) pursuant to § 68 of the Public Service Law, (2) approving a lightened regulatory regime consistent with previous Commission Orders involving exempt wholesale generators, and (3) for an expedited proceeding pursuant to 16 NYCRR § 21.10. Holtsville's principal place of business is in Lenexa, Johnson County, Kansas, and is incorporated in Delaware, and is a wholly owned project company of Savion, LLC (headquartered in Kansas City, Missouri), which, in turn, is owned by Shell.

Savion already has a total of 23 GW of solar and energy storage projects, located across 31 U.S. states, with 162 current projects in various phases.

The proposed project would be located at 5276 Expressway Drive South, Morris Avenue, and 178 Morris Avenue on three abutting parcels totaling 6.06 acres. More specifically, the proposed site is adjacent to industrial and commercial recreational uses in the L Industrial 1 Zoning District between the South Service Road of the Long Island Expressway, Long Island Avenue, Nicolls Road (CR 97), and the Long Island Power Authority right-of-way on approximately six acres of land within said District, and would come equipped with, among other components, 124 lithium-ion battery containers; heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) cooling systems; control instrumentation; and electric grid interconnection switchgear for the 138-kilovolt (kV) interconnection, which provides switching and protection to the BESS's electrical systems and point of interconnection.

It is expected that the facility would reach the end of its useful life by the 25-year mark, or, alternatively, if storage and distribution of electricity has ceased or been abandoned for more than one year, then the facility will be decommissioned.

With respect to safety concerns, it bears noting that, after an 8-month-long construction period, this project is expected to operate 24/7/365 and would be at least remotely monitored around-the-clock and would be restricted to Holtsville personnel and authorized contractor crews. It is expected that routine facility and site maintenance requirements are performed during normal operation in non-dispatch hours (typically monthly) with service technicians coming on-site to inspect all equipment and to clean/replace/add battery modules on specific schedule milestones. However, it begs the question, will the facility essentially operate in a quasi-unsupervised matter most of the time?

Further, while it is fortunate that fire hydrants are within reach for first responder use, the availability thereof can be considered a meager preventative measure. Holtsville does include a Fire & Safety section, merely stating: "Lithium-ion cells rarely experience failure leading to fire, however modern codes and standards such as NFPA-855 and UL-9540a require several independent preventative features to be included to minimize the risk of fire. With all these features in place and fully operational, the likelihood of a fire is reduced even further. These features include a battery management system, remote monitoring, gas detection, ventilation, and in some installations, fire suppression" (in response to the hypothetical questions "What about thermal runaway and fires? What is the likelihood of a battery fire?"). It is unclear if the Holtsville Fire Department or any neighboring fire departments, comprised of local volunteers, have the equipment and resources to combat a fire or disaster at this facility.

To state that "Lithium-ion cells rarely experience failure leading to fire," is outdated or inaccurate. On May 31, a $55 Million 5 MW lithium-ion BESS overheated and erupted in fire in East Hampton and could be offline for months. Reported by Newsday² on June 27, "According to a report³ by the American Public Power Association, a battery storage unit in Surprise, Arizona, experienced a "catastrophic failure" in 2019 that injured first responders. The 'extensive cascading thermal runaway event,' was caused by an internal cell failure."

There is simply a saturation of experimental technology out in society, the full spectrum of dangers only continues to grow clearer, little by little. It is of the utmost importance to respect land uses and respect local zoning laws, while also allowing breathing room for innovation and industry. However, more and more pressures are being applied to firefighters, EMS, and other emergency personnel who now must extinguish fires sparked by electric cars, school buses, scooters, and other electric modalities, and that is without even introducing a BESS into the community.

³ <https://www.publicpower.org/periodical/article/recent-california-energy-storage-battery-fire-draws-renewed-attention-storage-safety-issues>

BESSs are, above all, susceptible to risk of explosion and fires. They can also emit smoke and toxic fumes in the form of gas containing fluorine compounds. This gas is susceptible to ignition, but even when it does not ignite, this gas still lingers in the air and can prompt permanent eye and lung damage.

It is ironic and almost unbalanced, to say the least, for Holtsville Energy Storage to pack its FAQ document solely with talking points such as "Energy storage will [...] help cut emissions as it takes more of the load off traditional fossil-fuel based generation."

The fluorine compounds are found in the class of "fluorinated gases" (F-gases), which are man-made, and used in industrial applications, two of which are hydrogen fluoride (HF) and phosphoryl fluoride (POF₃). They're greenhouse gases with an even higher warming potential than that possessed by carbon dioxide. According to the federal Environmental Protection Agency, F-gases include the "most potent and longest-lasting greenhouse gases emitted by human activities."

Furthermore, Savion, LLC, in conjunction with Boralex, is already supposed to have another BESS in the works in the Town of Brookhaven, in the Hamlet of Yaphank, expected to possess 308 MWh of storage capacity, so it would be prudent to wait and see how this facility operates. That BESS is supposed to be paired with five Boralex upstate photovoltaic solar electricity generation projects, per a 2022 award by the New York State Energy Research and Development Authority.

Therefore, we urge a pause on a potential siting approval, pending further research on both the benefits and hazards of siting a BESS – especially one so near to residential homes and our local business district. We are concerned about the safety of the people of our community. We have one opportunity to get this process right, and we join our constituents in strongly opposing a lightened regulatory regime and expedited proceeding as has been requested in this instance.

Dear Governor Hochul,

It has recently come to my attention that you have launched a working group to inspect safety issues pertaining to energy storage facility sites to ensure local communities can respond adequately in case of future incidents.

On October 12, 2023, at least three months after the creation of this working group, the State of New York Public Service Commission approved the petition of Holtsville Energy Storage, LLC for a Certificate of Necessity, granting a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity and granting a Lightened Regulatory Regime and expedited proceeding. I find it extremely concerning for the Sachem School District, Holbrook and Holtsville Fire Departments, and residents in the neighborhoods surrounding this facility that instead of having their requested paused to hear findings from the working group, it was expedited!

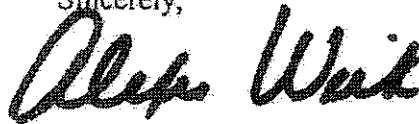

Since your concerns warranted the launching of a working group of NYSERDA, NYS Department of State, and NYS Department of Homeland Security, how can this be justified? Why was this process expedited? What actions do you intend to take that will correct what we see as an erroneous action? All approval processes should have been placed on hold, awaiting the outcome of the findings of this working group. Concerns should include but should not be limited to fire safety risks in the storage of lithium-ion batteries.

The New York State Public Service Commission should not have approved this application with the completion and approval of the emergency plan for this facility. Even within their own document approving the facility, the Public Service Commission cites fire safety concerns.

In addition to the necessary agencies, this emergency plan preparation process must include all stakeholders, Suffolk County, Town of Brookhaven, Holbrook and Holtsville Fire Departments, and public hearings. The State of New York needs to not only ensure public safety, but also build public confidence in the process.

I urge you to pause the New York State Public Service Commission's approval of Holtsville Energy Storage, LLC petition until an emergency plan is approved by the stakeholders. Secondly, I ask you to task the working group to complete their report with recommendations in a timely fashion. That will provide an opportunity for the New York State Senate and Assembly to review the report and draft appropriate, necessary legislation in this upcoming session.

Dear Mr. Zederbaum,

Thank you for your letter regarding the proposed battery storage facility in Holtsville.

Please be advised that any energy project of 25 megawatts or more does not require Town approval unless a rezoning is needed. Such projects require New York State approval. This project does not require rezoning since the site has been zoned industrial for more than 40 years.

I would recommend that you reach out to Governor Hochul and the Public Service Commission.

To the Attention of Brookhaven Board,

Brookhaven IDA's mission statement "is to improve the quality of life for Brookhaven Town residents by promoting and assisting the growth of businesses that will increase employment opportunities, increase the commercial tax base, and are sensitive to the quality of the environment, including, but not limited to, commercial/industrial projects, housing projects and energy projects."

We, the community, oppose funding to the proposed project by Holtsville Energy Storage LLC:

- The costs and risk outweigh the benefits;
- This not a job creator;
- This project does not generate electric, but buys, stores, and sells it back;
- This project may hurt the current industrial base in the form of increased electric rates, increased taxes to subsidize this project, and possible disruptions from fire;
- The Sachem School District is currently facing material budget headwinds;
- The Sachem School District is currently engaged in legal proceedings regarding the proposed project;
- Possible increased financial burden on community fire districts in terms of additional training and resources needs;
- In the event of a fire, even "successful fire," who will pay for disruptions to the community?
- Shell USA is worth $229.94 billion as of July 8, 2024 to allow any incentive in tax relief for this company to build the unwanted BESS facility is fiscally wrong.

There are a few points I would like to address in more detail. First, this project when built will be remotely monitored and provide no jobs, a stated mission of Brookhaven's IDA. The notion that "BESS" technology is "green" is absurd. First it requires 24 hour temperature control using HVAC systems to prevent overheating of the batteries. Has a cost effective analysis study been done to determine if the energy storage capacity is greater than the draw on the grid to run the HVAC system? In the case of a power outage the HVAC systems must be kept running on generators requiring fossil fuel. Lithium-ion batteries produce toxic fires that release Hydrogen Fluoride in great quantities, a toxic substance regulated by OSHA. This gas releases poses, a risk to first responders and the community. I would demand that you see the testing for HF levels from the three BESS fires in New York from 2023, although these facilities were a fraction of the size of your facility before considering moving forward with any approval of this site.

Additionally, Brookhaven should obtain the testing of HF levels during the May of 2024 Fire in Otay, Mesa as this facility is closer in size to the one proposed. If such testing does not exist then that should be a red flag for Brookhaven since BESS fires all produce HF at toxic levels. One then needs to ask if HF testing is deliberately not done so these facilities can be declared safe. Lithium mining is destructive to the environment and requires pools of water be set up as settling ponds. If a bird lands on these ponds it dies within minutes. Local miners die young from exposure to lithium, a neurotoxin.

Therefore, I would adamantly go on record against the location of this facility as well as any funding or tax incentives considered for the facility.

This gas releases poses, a risk to first responders and the community. I would demand that you see the testing for HF levels from the three BESS fires in New York from 2023, although these facilities were a fraction of the size of your facility before considering moving forward with any approval of this site.

Additionally, Brookhaven should obtain the testing of HF levels during the May of 2024 Fire In Otay, Mesa as this facility is closer in size to the one proposed. If such testing does not exist then that should be a red flag for Brookhaven since BESS fires all produce HF at toxic levels. One then needs to ask if HF testing is deliberately not done so these facilities can be declared safe. Lithium mining is destructive to the environment and requires pools of water be set up as settling ponds. If a bird lands on these ponds it dies within minutes. Local miners die young from exposure to lithium, a neurotoxin.

Therefore, I would adamantly go on record against the location of this facility as well as any funding or tax incentives considered for the facility.

Respectfully,

I am absolutely opposed to the location of this BESS facility near schools, and the size of it. A community should not be forced to accept dangerous technology in the name of a "Green Energy Goal." The BESS fire in OTAY Mesa burned for 17 days and required a shelter in place. A BESS fire produces toxic HF a substance regulated by OSHA. I can only conclude that HF was not tested during the three fires in NY by the Governor's Inter-agency Fire Working Group to be able to declare the air was safe to breathe. No other explanation would make sense. In independent testing HF is very high during a BESS Fire. Secondly, this company deserves no relief in taxes, loans or from property taxes. Shell USA is worth $229.94 billion as of July, 8, 2024. Any help of any kind should be flatly refused! Equinor is a 80.77 billion dollar company largely owned by the Norwegian Government. No financial incentives of any type should be given to this company to build this BESS facility. These corporations are protected by LLC status protects participants from being individually sued. When there is a fire and schools are closed and people asked to shelter in place where is the funding for clean-up. Compensation for business and individuals unable to work. This whole project should be refused as too high a risk for the residents to bear. Christine Panos

To Brookhaven Board,

I would like my opposition to Holtsville Energy Storage, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company's application before you to be recorded as part of the July 16, 2024 public hearing. Brookhaven IDA's mission statement "is to improve the quality of life for Brookhaven Town residents by promoting and assisting the growth of businesses that will increase employment opportunities, increase the commercial tax base, and are sensitive to the quality of the environment, including, but not limited to, commercial/industrial projects, housing projects and energy projects." We, the community, oppose funding to the proposed project by Holtsville Energy Storage LLC: The costs and risk outweigh the benefits; This not a job creator; This project does not generate electric, but buys, stores, and sells it back; This project may hurt the current industrial base in the form of increased electric rates, increased taxes to subsidize this project, and possible disruptions from fire; The Sachem School District is currently facing material budget headwinds; The Sachem School District is currently engaged in legal proceedings regarding the proposed project; Possible increased financial burden on community fire districts in terms of additional training and resources needs; In the event of a fire, even "successful fire," who will pay for disruptions to the community. Shell USA is worth $229.94 billion as of July 8, 2024 to allow any incentive in tax relief for this company to build the unwanted BESS facility is fiscally wrong. There are a few points I would like to address in more detail. First, this project when built will be remotely monitored and provide no jobs, a stated mission of Brookhaven's IDA. The notion that "BESS" technology is "green" is absurd. First it requires 24 hour temperature control using HVAC systems to prevent overheating of the batteries. Has a cost effective analysis study been done to determine if the energy storage capacity is greater than the draw on the grid to run the HVAC system? In the case of a power outage the HVAC systems must be kept running on generators requiring fossil fuel. Lithium ion batteries produce toxic fires that release Hydrogen Fluoride in great quantities, a toxic substance regulated by OSHA. This gas release poses a risk to first responders and the community. To Brookhaven Board,

We, the community, oppose funding to the proposed project by Holtsville Energy Storage LLC:

The costs and risk outweigh the benefits;

This not a job creator;

This project does not generate electric, but buys, stores, and sells it back;

This project may hurt the current industrial base in the form of increased electric rates, increased taxes to subsidize this project, and possible disruptions from fire;

The Sachem School District is currently facing material budget headwinds;

The Sachem School District is currently engaged in legal proceedings regarding the proposed project;

Possible increased financial burden on community fire districts in terms of additional training and resources needs;

In the event of a fire, even "successful fire," who will pay for disruptions to the community.

Battery Energy Storage Facilities DO NOT belong in the middle of residential neighborhoods!

About this petition

When our safety is at stake, we need to speak up and put the brakes on dangerous initiatives.

The residents of Holtsville, Holbrook and surrounding areas are deeply concerned and opposed to the proposed Holtsville Energy Storage Facility (Battery Energy Storage System) project on Morris Ave. This would be one of the largest facilities in the U.S. consisting of 110-megawatts, with 124 lithium-ion battery containers.

Consider the following:

- This does not belong in any residential area or near schools. This facility is proposed to sit within less than a one mile radius of (9) NINE school buildings as well as homes and businesses.
- BESS lithium battery facilities are known to have fire, explosion, and toxicity risks (according to NYSERDA).
- There is an increase in incidents with Li-ion Battery energy storage facilities. 7 Fires in since May 31, 2023 (4 Fires in NY alone).
- Increased danger to our volunteer fire departments.
- In the event of shelter in place, students would be displaced, which has proven to have many adverse effects. How does this affect the residents quality of life?
- In the event of fire, evacuation would be impossible. In the event of fire, will runoff leach into our water supply?
- What effect will toxins have on residents in the event of fire? No long term impacts haven't been studied because this is new technology!
- There is no way to put out the fire, it must burn!! What if it spreads?
- Once a BESS is installed in a residential community, the precedent is set; a BESS can be installed in any residential area.
- Increased utility costs to residents.
- There is a lack of expertise, allowing approvals for installations like this within residential communities, without proper due diligence or community involvement.
- Finding better energy solutions is imperative, but not if it compromises or threatens the residents and ecosystem of the towns of Islip and Brookhaven!
- Any risk to our safety is an unacceptable risk!

Please join me in signing this petition so we can protect our community's safety and preserve our precious environment for generations to come.

FROM THE TOWN OF BROOKHAVEN'S WEBSITE:

Office of Emergency Management: The town of Brookhaven is the largest municipality in Suffolk County and the largest town in New York State. ... The Town of Brookhaven's Office of Emergency Management (OEM) is the direct result of the Town's commitment to ensuring the safety and well-being of each of its residents.

The TOWN OF BROOKHAVEN owes its residents the assurance that BROOKHAVEN will protect their safety and the safety of our environment by denying project proposals which are capable of causing tremendous disasters in areas where people are living and children are attending school every single day. The town has not shown anything to its residents to assure them that Brookhaven and the local fire departments are able to contain a disaster should it occur. With these types of disasters occurring more and more as BESS facilities are installed throughout the country, it is time to SLOW DOWN. The community will be holding local meetings regarding this project proposal and we encourage our local town leaders and decision makers to attend these meetings as well to let your constituents know that you are looking to make informed decisions for them.

The undersigned petition the town of Brookhaven to DENY THE PERMIT requested by Holtsville Energy Storage LLC to begin installation of the battery energy storage facility proposed to be installed at Morris Avenue and the LIE in Holtsville, directly in the middle of a residential community and within a mile or less of NINE schools.

Ms. Lisa Mulligan
Town of Brookhaven
Industrial Development Agency

Dear Ms. Mulligan

As community stakeholders, attached is a petition signed by residents who are opposed to the installation of a Battery Energy Storage System within one mile of a school and homes and businesses in the middle of a densely populated community.

We urge the Brookhaven IDA to oppose any pilots or incentives for this type of installation in a location like this and to put the safety of the residents and businesses first.

We appreciate your attention.

Sincerely,

Fran Lunati, Chairperson

PETITION

To Brookhaven Town Supervisor, Edward Romaine & the Members of the Planning and Zoning Board of the Town of Brookhaven

The residents of Holtsville, Holbrook and surrounding areas are deeply concerned and opposed to the proposed Holtsville Energy Storage Facility (Battery Energy Storage System) project on Morris Ave. This would be one of the largest facilities in the U.S. consisting of 110-megawatts, with 124 lithium-ion battery containers.

Consider the following:

- This does not belong in any residential area or near schools. This facility is proposed to sit within less than a one-mile radius of (9) NINE school buildings as well as homes and businesses.
- BESS lithium battery facilities are known to have fire, explosion, and toxicity risks (according to NYSERDA).
- There is an increase in incidents with LI-ion Battery energy storage facilities. 7 Fires in since May 31, 2023 (4 Fires in NY alone).
- Increased danger to our volunteer fire departments.
- In the event of shelter in place, students would be displaced, which has proven to have many adverse effects. How does this affect the resident's quality of life?
- In the event of fire, evacuation would be impossible. In the event of fire, will runoff leach into our water supply?
- What effect will toxins have on residents in the event of fire? No long-term impacts haven't been studied because this is new technology!
- There is no way to put out the fire, it must burn!! What if it spreads?
- Once a BESS is installed in a residential community, the precedent is set; a BESS can be installed in any residential area.
- Increased utility costs to residents.
- There is a lack of expertise, allowing approvals for installations like this within residential communities, without proper due diligence or community involvement.
- Finding better energy solutions is imperative, but not if it compromises or threatens the resident's and ecosystem of the towns of Islip and Brookhaven!
- Any risk to our safety is an unacceptable risk!

disasters in areas where people are living, and children are attending school every single day. The town has not shown anything to its residents to assure them that Brookhaven and the local fire departments are able to contain a disaster should it occur. With these types of disasters occurring more and more as BESS facilities are installed throughout the country, it is time to SLOW DOWN. The community will be holding local meetings regarding this project proposal, and we encourage our local town leaders and decision makers to attend these meetings as well to let your constituents know that you are looking to make informed decisions for them.

The undersigned petition the town of Brookhaven to DENY THE PERMIT requested by Holtsville Energy Storage LLC to begin installation of the battery energy storage facility proposed to be installed at Morris Avenue and the LIE in Holtsville, directly in the middle of a residential community and within a mile or less of NINE schools.
